Our new book we are focusing on in English is The Detective Dog by Julia Donaldson.

In today's session we are going to be predicting.

Task one:
Have a look at the front cover, can you predict what you think this story will be about?
Can you justify your prediction? Can you use the images or name of the book?

Task two:
Now look at the back of the book and the blurb. Does this tell you anything extra? Has your prediction | In today's session we are going to be describing a character within the book. We are going to be doing this purely with an image, we aren't going to read the book yet.

Task one:
Choose one of the characters from the PowerPoint and complete the role in the wall. On the inside write the feelings/emotion you think the character is feeling from the image. Then on the outside write words and phrases about the characters appearance.

Task two:
Can you write some sentences to describe your character. | In today's session we are going to be looking at prepositions.

Work through the PowerPoint.

Task one:
Look at the pieces of text, can you highlight the prepositions that you can find.

Task two:
Write your own sentences including prepositions. Challenge- can you include expanded noun phrases and conjunctions?

Extension:
Complete the worksheet. There are three levels, choose the one you are most comfortable with. | In todays session we are going to be thinking about our opinions and using our predicting skills again.

Task one:
Listen up to 3:01, before you carry on listening. Can you write a prediction on what you think will happen next. Remember to use your prediction language.

Task two:
Read up to 5:26, can you think of reasons why the thief may have stolen the books. How do you think he feels? What different emotions may he be feeling? | The Pobble365 theme is The Astronaut.

Using the PDF, choose two or three activities to complete.
