Session 1	Session 2	Session 3	Session 4
Exciting Writing	LO: To be able to identify key features of a newspaper report.	LO: To collect research for our newspaper report.	Guided Reading
In today's session we are going to be writing a recount of what we did in our half term. Work through the PowerPoint to remind ourselves what a recount is and what we need to include. Have a look at the examples if you need some help with ideas. Then ensuring you are including all key features of a recount, write about your half term.	In today's session we are identifying and annotating key features of a newspaper report. Work your way through the PowerPoint to explore the key features. Task one: Have a look at some newspaper reports. Can you spot the key features we have discussed? Are there any reports that have a key feature missing? Task two: Choose your favourite newspaper report you have read so far. Using coloured pencils or labelling, highlight the key features within the diary entry. Task three: Using the sheet, you need to create your own tick sheet for when you write your own newspaper report next week. Think about the key features we have learnt today.	Next week we will be writing our newspaper report, which will be written about the discovery of Skara Brae. So, in today's session we are researching the discovery of Skara Brae. Before we write our newspaper report we need to understand what Skara Brae is, and key information we need to use in our report. First work through this website: BBC - See You See Me - Skara Brae - Questions Then using Espresso, Google and the resources attached, make notes on a mind map that you think are important to the discovery of Skara Brae and any information you think would be useful in your newspaper report.	In today's session we are reading through a newspaper report and answering comprehension tasks linked to the newspaper report. Read the newspaper report to someone at home, and then choose two of the activities to complete.

Please submit your work through Tapestry.
