LO: To rewrite the ending of The Hundred-Mile-an-Hour Dog. LO: To write another chapter for My Dad's Got an Alligator.	LO: To edit my ending of The Hundred-Mile-an-Hour Dog. LO: To edit my chapter of My Dad's Got an Alligator.	LO: To use the prefix un- correctly.	LO: To use the suffixes -ful and -less.	Pick 10 of the Year 2 common exception words and practice spelling them and using them in a sentence. Get creative and use chalk or paint or sand to write your words to practice them.
Using the plan that we created last lesson, can you write a new ending to one of the Jeremy Strong books that we have read. Remember to use the word mat and the tick list for your writing.	Work through the PowerPoint to recap how to edit your work. Focusing on one station at a time, can you edit your writing to make sure you have included all of the features on your tick list.	Work through the PowerPoint to find out more about what a prefix is and how they can change the meaning of words. Today we are using un- to change the meaning of words. Complete the activity by adding the prefix un- to create a new word. Then, use the new word in a sentence. As a plenary, complete the grammar goblin wordsearch to add un- to each word.	Work through the PowerPoint to find out more about what a suffix is and how they can change meanings. Today we are using -ful and -less to create adjectives. Then, choose the differentiated sheet that matches your understand to complete. As a plenary, can you complete the mini quiz to consolidate your learning from today.

Please upload all work completed to Tapestry for feedback.
